COURSE DESCRIPTION

University: University of Presov
Faculty/university workplace: Faculty of Arts
Code: 1ISS/SJAI/22	Course title: Contemporary Language A/III (Polish Language) (profile course)
Type, scope and method of educational activity: Type: lecture/seminar Scope: 1/1 Method: full-time study
Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester: 4.
Study grade: 1.
Prerequisites: 1ISS/ZJK/22 Basis of Language Communication 1ISS/SJAI/22 Contemporary Language A/I (Polish Language) 1ISS/SJAI/22 Contemporary Language A/II (Polish Language)
Conditions for passing the course: participation in lessons, individual preparation for lessons and exam, preparation of a presentation on a given topic, final written test checking theoretical and practical knowledge of Polish language syntax. The planned educational activities correspond to 120 hours of work (of which 26 hours consist of direct teaching and 94 hours of independent work, self-study and preparation for the exam). To obtain grade A (excellent) the student must obtain at least 90%, to obtain grade B 80%, to grade C at least 70%, to grade D 60%, to grade E at least 50%. A student who obtains less than 50% will be graded FX. The course ends with an exam.
Learning outcomes: Acquired knowledge: The student has theoretical knowledge of syntagmatics, sentence structure and sentence structure of the Polish language. He knows the syntactic system of language, problems of sentence stores and grammatical relations, syntactic (constructional) rules and syntactic means, division and characteristics of sentence members. The graduate gained knowledge of the sentence, sentence types, sentence schemes, verbal valence and intention. The graduate of the course knows the syntactic syntax, symptomatic and expressive syntactic constructions, the current division of the statement, the modal structure of sentences, syntactic styles in functional styles and in individual personnel style. Acquired skills: The graduate of the course will be able to apply theoretical knowledge in syntactic analysis at all levels, use knowledge of syntax theory in the analysis of language material and texts. He is able to transform language competence understood as a set of knowledge about language into language performance, t. j. functional use of language skills to achieve communication intentions in different communication situations. The student is able to create syntactically correct constructions and sentences in a foreign language. Has the ability to identify basic syntactic units, basic types of syntactic relations. Gains the ability to identify and characterize the peculiarities of the syntactic construction of written and spoken expressions.

Acquired competencies: The graduate of the course acquires the competence to explain the essence of individual syntactic phenomena in their own words, to reconcile the functioning of the syntactic level with other language levels, to describe the functions of individual syntactic phenomena in text construction, to characterize and use construction rules and syntactic means. He acquired the competence to analyze syntactic relations in sentence and sentence structures. The student is aware of the differences in the morphological level of the mother tongue (language of active use) and Polish, which he studies as a foreign language.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

University: University of Presov
Faculty/university workplace: Faculty of Arts
Code: 1ISS/JKAI/22	Course title: Language Skills A/I (Polish language)
Type, scope and method of educational activity: Type: training course Scope: 0/4 Method: full-time study
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 5.
Study grade: 1.
Prerequisites: Language practice with a native speaker A/I (Polish language) Language practice with a native speaker A/II (Polish language) Language practice with a native speaker A/III (Polish language) Language practice with a native speaker A/IV (Polish language)
Conditions for passing the course: Continuous evaluation: The course ends with an exam. 40% of the evaluation will consist of written assignments (stylistic works) and presentation, 60% of the evaluation consists of an exam, which consists of an oral and a written part: 30% consists of a written grammar test; 30% is an oral conversation on a selected topic. The planned educational activities correspond to 90 hours of work (of which 52 hours are direct teaching and 38 hours are self-study and preparation for the exam). Final evaluation: To obtain grade A (excellent) the student must obtain at least 90%, to obtain grade B 80%, to grade C at least 70%, to grade D 60%, to grade E at least 50%. A student who obtains less than 50% will be graded FX.
Learning outcomes: Acquired knowledge: The student will deepen the theoretical knowledge of grammatical (morphological and syntactic), lexical and stylistic phenomena, collocational contexts of individual lexemes. The graduate of the course will expand the lexical vocabulary necessary for communication at B1 level. Acquired skills: The graduate of the course will be able to apply theoretical knowledge in the perception and production of intermediate oral and written expression in Polish. The student will be able to identify and use grammatical and lexical units in a meaningful and stylistically appropriate way, to analyse grammatical forms. Acquire the skill to use stylistically appropriate lexical vocabulary necessary for private and public communication. Acquired competences: Students will acquire socio-cultural competence and linguistic competence in Polish at B1 level, with particular reference to listening comprehension, oral interaction and independent oral expression. Comprehension: students understand the main ideas expressed in written language on common topics they encounter at work, school, leisure, etc. They understand the meaning of many radio and television programmes on current affairs or topics related to their areas of personal or professional interest if they are spoken relatively slowly and clearly. Speaking: learners can cope with most situations that may arise when travelling in an area where the language is spoken. They can engage in conversation without preparation on topics they know, are interested in or relate to in everyday life (e.g. family, hobbies, work, travel and current affairs). Writing: Students can write simple, coherent sentences on topics they know well or are personally interested in.

Course content:

Conversation: university, the pros and cons of student life. Graduation. Successful graduates. Job search. My housing preferences. City versus village. Real estate agents. Famous houses, famous architects. Yesterday and today - changes around us. The role of men and women in home and life. Is there a feminine and masculine "world"? Marriage in the 21st century. Generational problems and conflicts. Rules of polite behaviour (what (not) to do in the theatre, on the tram, in a taxi, at lunch, etc.). Character types. Intercultural differences: is there a typical Slovak and a typical Pole? Lifestyle. Healthy and unhealthy lifestyle. Sports and sports disciplines. Popular sports in your country. Why (not) play sports? Internet friendships. Electronic media and social networks in my life - how do they influence me? Travel. Travel agency. Holidays and study abroad. Advertising. What we do for the environment. Ecological problems of the world. Grammar: Conjunctions. Interjections. Direct speech. Use of the infinitive. Aspect. Reflexive. Reflexive tantum. Reflexive verbs. Reciprocity. Change/modification of meaning in reflexive verbs. Change of aspect in reflexive verbs. Nominative versus accusative. Accusative versus locative. Accusative versus instrumental. Accusative versus dative. Genitive plural. Possessive adjectives and possessive genitive. Verbal prefixes.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

University: University of Presov
Faculty/university workplace: Faculty of Arts
Code: 1ISS/OBP/22	Course title: Bachelor Thesis Defence (course of state exam)
Type, scope and method of educational activity: Type: bachelor thesis defence Scope: in accordance with the state examination schedule Method: full-time study
Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester: 6.
Study grade: 1.
Prerequisites: The defense as a subject of the state exam can be completed by a student who has fulfilled the obligations set out in the study regulations during the control of the study performed in the last year of study.
Conditions for passing the course: - The defence of the thesis is part of the state examination. - When preparing the bachelor's thesis, the student is guided by the instructions of his/her supervisor and the Directive on the requirements of final theses, their bibliographic registration, originality control, storage and accessibility issued by the University of Prešov in Prešov. The length of the thesis may be determined by the supervisor, the recommended length being 30 to 40 standard pages (54 000 - 72 000 characters) without appendices (from the introduction to the conclusion inclusive). The structure of the thesis and the formal layout of the thesis are determined in agreement with the supervisor by the Directive on the requirements of final theses. The final version of the thesis, bound in hardcover, is to be handed in by the student to the department which has written the thesis topic. The deadline for the submission of bachelor theses is set out in the timetable for the relevant academic year. - The bachelor's thesis is submitted in two printed copies; the electronic version, which must be identical to the printed version, is uploaded by the student to the thesis filing system in PDF format within seven days of the submission of the printed version. The originality of the thesis is assessed in the central thesis register. A report on the originality of the thesis shall be drawn up on the result of the originality check. The originality check is a prerequisite for the defence. On the basis of the result of the overlap of the thesis with other theses, the supervisor decides whether the thesis can be the subject of the defence. - As part of the submission of the thesis, a licence agreement for the use of the digital copy of the thesis is concluded between the author and the Slovak Republic on behalf of the University. After uploading the thesis to the PU EHR, the author shall immediately submit to the training institute a draft licence agreement signed by him/her, which must be signed by an authorised representative of the University (the head of the training institute) within 30 days of the thesis being sent to the CRZP. - The bachelor's thesis is assessed by the thesis supervisor and the thesis referee, who draw up evaluations according to the established criteria.

The State Final Examination Board shall evaluate the course of the defence and decide on the classification in a closed session. When classifying, it comprehensively assesses the quality of the thesis and its defence, taking into account the opinions and the course of the defence, and gives one common mark. The final grade may be the same as in the evaluations, but it may also be better or worse, depending on the course of the defence. The decision on the result of the defence shall be announced publicly by the chairman of the board together with the result of the relevant final examination.

The individual requirements for the completion of the courses and the obtaining of credits correspond to 120 hours (of which 100 hours of independent work and 20 hours of consultation with the supervisor).

Learning outcomes:

Acquired knowledge::

-thorough knowledge and mastery of basic and extension information on the subject of the bachelor's thesis

-know how to compare and select different types of sources and study material

-have an overview of foreign language literature;

Acquired skills:

-independently and creatively use professional sources

-analyse and evaluate the current state of the problem

-synthesise and apply the acquired theoretical knowledge in the bachelor thesis;

Acquired competencies:

-present and defend their position in terms of the aim of the work and its contribution

-show their linguistic and professional culture and their own attitude to the professional problems of their study.

Course content:

The defence of the bachelor thesis has a steady course:

1. Introductory speech of the graduate, presentation of the results of the thesis.

2. Presentation of the main points from the written opinions of the supervisor and the opponent.

3. The student's answers to the questions of the supervisor and the opponent.

4. A professional discussion of the bachelor's thesis with questions to the student.

The bachelor thesis is available to the committee during the defense. The introduction should include, in particular, the following points:

1. Brief justification of the choice of the topic, its topicality, practical contribution.

2. Clarification of the objectives and methods used in the elaboration of the thesis.

3. The main content problems of the thesis.

4. Conclusions and practical recommendations to which the author of the thesis came.

During the presentation, the student has at his/her disposal his/her own copy of the bachelor's thesis or a written introduction. The speech will be delivered independently. He/she may use computer technology. The introductory speech should be short, not exceeding ten minutes.

University: University of Presov
Faculty/university workplace: Faculty of Arts
Code: 1ISS/SSJ/22	Course title: Contemporary Polish or Slovak language (course of the state examination)
Type, scope and method of educational activity: State examination before the examination commission for the performance of the state examination. Presence method.
Number of credits: 6
Recommended semester: 6.
Study grade: 1.
Prerequisites: The state exam can be taken by a student who has fulfilled the obligations set out in the study regulations during the control of the study performed in the last year of study.
Conditions for passing the course: - Obtaining a grade for the state exam within classification levels A to E (1.00 - 3.00). If the commission evaluates the state exam with a grade of insufficient (FX), the student has failed the state exam and can repeat the given part of the state exam twice. - The student must demonstrate communication competence at level B1, which is defined by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.
Learning outcomes: Acquired knowledge: The graduate has knowledge of phonetics and phonology, morphology, morphemantics, word formation and syntax of the Polish or Slovak language, which are defined in the information sheets of profile subjects Contemporary language A / I - A / III (Polish or Slovak language). At these levels, it has built language competence understood as a set of knowledge about language, which is a prerequisite for language performance, i. j. functional use of language skills. The graduate has knowledge of translation theory, is familiar with translation strategies, procedures and methods, equivalence issues, translation solutions and the cultural context of translation, which he acquired in the profile subjects Professional Translation I - II (Polish or Slovak) and Artistic Translation I - II (Polish or Slovak language). Acquired skills: The graduate is able to functionally use knowledge of language (so-called language performance) to achieve communication intentions in various communication situations, while language competence and language performance together form communication competence, ie a complex of knowledge, skills, attitudes and values related to the language on which we enter. into production processes (writing and speaking) and reception processes (listening and reading) of verbal interaction.

After three years of study, the student has developed communication competence at level B1, which is defined by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, while the acquisition of communication competence in a foreign language contributes to multilingualism, which is one of the eight key competences of the European Framework of Reference. Level B1: Listening. The student is able to understand the main ideas expressed in written language about common topics encountered at school, in his free time, etc. Understands the meaning of many radio and television programs related to current events or topics related to areas of personal or professional interest, if they are uttered relatively slowly and clearly. Reading. The student understands texts that contain everyday vocabulary. Can understand events, feelings and wishes in personal letters. Speaking. The student is able to deal with most situations that may arise when traveling in an area where this language is spoken. Can prepare without conversation on topics which he / she knows, which he is interested in or which relate to everyday life (eg family, hobbies, work, travel and current events). He can easily combine phrases to describe his experiences and events, his dreams, hopes and goals. Can briefly explain and explain his / her views and plans. Can tell a story or tell the content of a book or film and describe his / her reactions. Writing. The student is able to write simple coherent sentences on topics that he knows well or that interests him personally. Can write private letters describing experiences and impressions.

The student has developed a translation competence corresponding to the target level of communication competence, within professional and artistic translation, so he is able to understand the content of the statement in the source language and transfer the idea of the statement to the target language, while respecting the system of language standards in both languages and cultural and reception the context of both statements, provided that its functionality in the target language is maintained.

Acquired competencies:

The graduate is competent to synthesize knowledge of language and translation acquired in profile subjects. He is able to use knowledge in communication in a foreign language and translates with respect to the norm, cultivated and polite expression. He is aware of the differences at individual language levels between his mother tongue (language of active use) and Polish / Slovak, which he studies as a foreign language. Acquired communication skills in a foreign language contribute to multilingualism - one of the eight key competences of the European Reference Framework that individuals need for their personal fulfillment and development, employability, social inclusion, successful living in society, active citizenship, etc.

Course content: The subject of the state exam are profile subjects forming the core of knowledge of the field of study of philology, Central European Studies program: Contemporary Language A / I - A / III (Polish or Slovak), Professional Translation I - II (Polish or Slovak), Artistic translation I - II (Polish or Slovak language). Students will be provided with topics for the state exam. The exam will consist of text design, orthographic dictation and text translation according to the language of specialization.
