University: University of Presov
Faculty/university workplace: Faculty of Arts
Code: 1ISS/MKSKII/22	Course title: Chapters from Central European Cultures II (compulsory course, profile course)
Type, scope and method of educational activity: Type: lecture / seminar Scope: 1/1 Method: full-time study
Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester: 2
Study grade: 2.
Prerequisites: 1ISS / MKSK / Chapters from Central European Cultures I
Conditions for passing the course: Form of completion: exam. The final evaluation will consist of individual preparation for seminars (study of primary and secondary literature, films, participation in exhibitions) and presentation of seminar work, written test and oral exam. The planned educational activities correspond to 120 hours of work (of which 26 hours are direct teaching and 94 hours are home self-study of secondary literature and interpretive work with material). To obtain grade A (excellent) the student must obtain at least 90%, to obtain grade B 80%, to grade C at least 70%, to grade D 60%, to grade E at least 50%. A student who obtains less than 50% will be graded FX.
Learning outcomes: Acquired knowledge: The student acquires comprehensive knowledge of Central European fine arts since modern times. They will also gain a broader contextual overview of the trends in fine arts development, fine arts education in Central European cultural centers (Prague, Vienna, Krakow) and, last but not least, improve the principles of interpretive work - description of works of art, contemporary social contexts, contextual contexts. Acquired skills: the student is able to define the affiliation to a given modern or avant-garde line based on the features of the artwork. He is able to orientate himself in the tendencies of Central European cultural movements of the 20th century, while improving the principles of methodologically based interpretive practice with works of art of the relevant period. Acquired competencies: the graduate of the course acquires the competence to explain the features of aesthetic orientation in Central European art of the first half of the 20th century. The graduate acquires the competence to clarify the relationship between the vicissitudes of (Central) European history and their form in the visual arts, resp. in the broader context of artistic rendering. Type, scope and method of educational activity: Method: full-time study State examination before the Examination Board for taking the state examination. Presence form.
Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester: 4
Study grade: 2.
Prerequisites: 1ISS/MSDP/22 Diploma thesis seminar
Conditions for passing the course: • The defense of the diploma thesis is a part of the state exam. • When preparing the diploma thesis, the student follows the instructions of his / her supervisor and the Directive on essentials of final theses, their bibliographic registration, control of originality, storage and access issued by the University of Prešov in Prešov. The scope of work can be determined by the training workplace, while the recommended scope is without appendices (from introduction to conclusion inclusive) 50 to 70 standard pages (90,000 to 126,000 characters). The structure of the work and the formal arrangement of the work are determined by the Directive on the requisites of final theses in agreement with the supervisor. The final variant of the diploma thesis bound in hardcover is handed over by the student to the institute that wrote the topic of the thesis. The deadline for submission of diploma theses is set in the schedule of the relevant academic year. The diploma thesis is submitted in two printed copies, its electronic version, which must be identical to the printed version, is entered by the student into the system of registration of final theses in PDF format, no later than seven days after submission of the printed version. The originality of the work is assessed in the central register of final theses. A report on the originality of the final thesis is prepared on the result of the originality check. Control of originality is a necessary condition of defense. Based on the result of the overlap of work with other works, the trainer decides whether the work can be the subject of a defense. Part of the transfer of work is the conclusion of a license agreement on the use of a digital copy of the work between the author and the Slovak Republic on behalf of the university. After submitting the work to the MAIS PU, the author immediately submits a draft license agreement signed by him to the training workplace, which must be signed by an authorized representative of the university (the head of the training workplace) within 30 days of sending the work to the CRZP. • The diploma thesis is assessed by the supervisor and the opponent, who prepares the assessments according to the set criteria. The commission for the final state examinations in a closed session will evaluate the course of the defense and decide on the classification. During the classification, it comprehensively assesses the quality of the work and its defense, taking into account the opinions and the course of the defense, and evaluates with one common mark. The final evaluation can be the same as in the testimonials, but it can also be better, resp. worse, depending on the course of the defense. The decision on the result of the defense will be announced publicly by the chairman of the commission together with the result of the relevant state final examination.

Conditions for passing the course: - Obtaining a grade for the state exam within classification levels A to E (1.00 - 3.00). If the commission evaluates the state exam with a grade of insufficient (FX), the student has failed the state exam and can repeat the given part of the state exam twice. - The student must demonstrate communication competence at C1 level, which is defined by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Learning outcomes: Acquired knowledge: The graduate knows how to define the administrative-legal style, knows its features, understands it in the context of stylistic classification, is familiar with the history of the origin and formation of this style. Can define and classify tourism; name the mission and significance of the international organization UNESCO, can name and characterize Polish and Slovak cultural and natural objects inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage List, is familiar with the criteria for inscription on the list and the inscription of individual objects can date. The student is familiar with the types of texts from these areas (administrative and legal style, tourism, cultural and natural heritage of the nation), knows how to classify and characterize them, masters their specifics in terms of composition, horizontal and vertical division and lexicon. Masters the rules of written communication with respect to the norm, cultivated and polite expression. The graduate has a consolidated and expanded language competence understood as a set of knowledge about language, which is a prerequisite for language performance, t. j. functional use of language skills. Written expression A / I - A / III (Polish or Slovak language) was acquired within the profile subjects. The graduate has knowledge of translation theory, is familiar with translation strategies, procedures and methods, equivalence issues, translation solutions and the cultural context of translation, which he acquired in the profile subjects Translation Seminar I - III. Acquired skills: The graduate is able to functionally use knowledge of language (so-called language performance) to achieve communication intentions in various communication situations, while language competence and language performance together form communication competence, ie a complex of knowledge, skills, attitudes and values related to the language on which we enter. into production processes (writing and speaking) and reception processes (listening and reading) of verbal interaction.

After two years of study at the second level, which follows on from a three-year bachelor's degree specializing in Polish or Slovak as foreign languages, the student has established communication competence at C1 level, defined by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. to multilingualism, which is one of the eight key competences of the European Framework of Reference. By completing profile subjects, the student developed his skills primarily in the production component of communication competence (writing and speaking), secondarily also in the reception component of communication competence (listening and reading).

Level C1: Writing. The student is able to express himself clearly, organize the text well and express his opinions professionally; can write about complex subjects in a letter, paper or report and emphasize what he / she considers most important; can choose a style according to the reader to whom the text is intended. Speaking. The student is able to express himself / herself fluently and spontaneously without an obvious search for expressions, he / she is able to use the language flexibly and effectively for social and professional purposes; can formulate their thoughts and opinions precisely and be able to follow up on the contributions of other speakers; can describe complex topics clearly and in detail, extend them to secondary topics, develop specific points and conclude with appropriate conclusions. Listening. The student is able to understand longer speech even if it is not clearly structured and when relationships are only indicated, not explicitly signaled; can understand television programs and films without much effort. Reading. The student understands a long and complex factual and literary text, recognizing differences in style; understands professional articles and longer instructions.

The student has developed a translation competence corresponding to the target level of communication competence, within professional and artistic translation, so he is able to understand the content of the statement in the source language and transfer the idea of the statement to the target language, while respecting the system of language standards in both languages and cultural and reception the context of both statements, provided that its functionality in the target language is maintained.

Acquired competencies:

The graduate is competent to synthesize theoretical knowledge gained in profile subjects. He can use knowledge in communication in a foreign language and translate with respect to the norm, cultivated and polite expression. He is aware of the differences between his mother tongue (the language of active use) and Polish / Slovak, which he studies as a foreign language. Acquired communication skills in a foreign language contribute to multilingualism - one of the eight key competences of the European Reference Framework that individuals need for their personal fulfillment and development, employability, social inclusion, successful living in society, active citizenship, etc.

Course content: The subject of the state exam are profile subjects forming the core of knowledge of the study field of philology, Central European Studies program: Written Speech A / I - A / III (Polish or Slovak language), Translation Seminar I - III.
